SHARED VALUES AND TEAM WORK IN CROATIA

Tihana Đakić Barčičević has been working in the tourism industry for 27 years, and she can bear witness to the fact that a lot has changed, including the awareness of local people and tourists. The DestiMED PLUS project is part of this change, and has had an impact on the way tourism is developing on the islands of Cres and Lošinj.

"More and more tourists seek a sustainable approach. Before, tourists who visited our island mostly looked forward to the sea, sunbathing and relaxing, and rarely wanted alternative activities, nature walks and so on. But this is changing – out of season now we are visited by tourists who want to stay in nature and stay longer. We have branded Lošinj the 'Island of Vitality', and expanded our offer, so tourists who visit us are aware that we enjoy living here all year round, and that we do not depend only on tourist visits in July and August. On the island we build with natural materials, respecting nature

(Cres Lošinj is a Natura2000 site), we inform our guests about saving water, sustainable energy, garbage sorting, and the seasonal offer of food and organic products".

The project has also highlighted the fact that governance, conservation and an attractive ecotourism product can go hand in hand, and has demonstrated the importance of team work.

"Sharing the workload I learned a lot, I felt that I was not alone – this project is successful because I had a team! DestiMED PLUS confirmed to me that without the synergy of the whole community, progress is not possible. It validates my long-standing opinion that there is no competition in this business, only a common goal: a happy client who recounts the beauties of our island to the world. We want to make every guest a friend of Lošinj, learn from each guest what we can improve or change, constantly developing our approach."

We spoke to Tihana Đakić Barčičević from the tourism agency Ast (Yvel Lošinj, Croatia), working with the Institute of Tourism Croatia, a DestiMED PLUS project partner.

"The island inspires tranquility and peace. We walk through the small alleys to the Scented Garden, filled with lavender, to discover indigenous plants and herbs...every corner is filled with quaint artefacts put together artistically by our host ... Later we explore the coastline, walking around the signposted route towards Cikot under a forest of Aleppo pine trees...There is so much more to say about this paradise. I leave feeling totally regenerated"

Linda Botha from Walking Wine Tours, South Africa, was one of the ecotourism experts who visited Cres-Lošinj Marine Protected Area.
